

Rachel Schiff is the SVP of Product at IntelyCare, leading the company's expansion into scheduling software. She previously worked as VP of Product at Virgin Pulse, designing gamified, motivating programs for companies to offer to their employees to promote healthy behaviors and health awareness. Prior to that, she managed interactive, multi-device experiences for Xbox in Microsoft's Interactive Entertainment Business.

Rachel has an MBA from MIT Sloan School of Management, and a BA from Harvard College.