

Forrest has held the top spot at Los Angeles Jewish Home since 1996. Under her guidance, it has grown to 1,600 employees, serving 4,000 individuals on four campuses daily, with an annual budget of $160 million. Previously, she held posts as a private consultant, operations officer for American Medical Services, and county health executive. She also has been an active leader in state and national association affairs.